Catholic Heritage

In the tradition of the Sisters of the Good Samaritan, the founding religious order of the College, our students are called to be neighbour to all, to listen in a deeper way and discover new ways of realising the parable of the Good Samaritan in all that they do. The Catholic tradition in which we educate at Mater Maria enables each student to make a contribution to others in unique ways.

In 1962 the Sisters of the Good Samaritan founded a secondary school for 38 girls at Narrabeen and two years later moved the school to our current site in Warriewood. The College became co-educational in 1979 and in 1990 the responsibility for the College was handed to the Catholic Schools Broken Bay.

With Blessed Mary as our College patron and guide, each student is encouraged to share the gift of faith, to be active in social justice campaigns and initiatives, involved in youth ministries, to be stewards for the world and to make a difference in the ways that matter.

Innovative Positive Learning Culture - Curriculum

At Mater Maria we strive to develop EPIC students who are;

Engaged in learning

Positive in their attitude

Independent by taking personal responsibility to reach their full potential

Connected by collaborating with teachers and peers

Learning is the primary focus at the College and as a co-educational community our teachers confidently embrace the uniqueness of each student, actively seeking to develop the special gifts that each student has by tailoring learning to their needs.

We accept the professional challenge of raising our students' academic standards of achievement by providing opportunities for creative problem solving and critical thinking, whilst guiding students' progress and instilling a love of lifelong learning.

Mater Maria is a vibrant, nurturing community which affords creative, academic and sport loving students with a diverse program of knowledge and skills. This maximises their individual achievements providing the opportunity to flourish beyond school.

Caring for the Individual - Student Wellbeing

Our student wellbeing and pastoral care program is structured so that each child is known as an individual, is challenged to reach his or her potential and feels connected to a cohesive community through various student leadership, faith development, social justice, mental health, anti-bullying and cyber safety initiatives.

We encourage our young people to value and respect themselves, build positive relationships and contribute to the welcoming feel that our College is renowned for. At Mater Maria, the inclusive nature of our co-educational setting provides a wide range of natural opportunities for building positive and healthy relationships between girls and boys needed for life after school.

Students are encouraged to have a growth mindset by developing personal goals and the resilience to use feedback for learning. Our behaviour management approach is grounded in restorative justice in a spirit of reconciliation which allows our students to discern appropriate behaviour and grow into responsible young adults.
